Easter nests from terracotta-pots

Instructions No. 2204

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 1 hour

As Easter approaches, it's time to make little Easter nests again. You can, of course, make them in the traditional way or simply try something new. Like these colorful nests made from terracotta-pots.

Depending on which motif you have chosen, start by priming the terracotta-pots in white. Always do this where you want the motif to be later. But make sure you cover a larger area.
If you are using straw silk paper for banderoles, for example, go around the terracotta-pot once with the paint. Then roughly mark the area that needs to remain free or white for the motif. You can also apply the stickers or the straw silk paper beforehand.

Then cut a paint sponge into four pieces and dab the structure paste onto the pot. But leave the motif area free.

Once the structure paste is dry, you can now paint it. The sponge and dabbing technique is also best for this.

If you want it to be more even or cover the entire surface, a brush is better.

Once the paint has dried, fill your pots with the Easter grass and decorate them with the Easter eggs.

If you want to place the Easter nests outside, the eggs should be fixed in place with glue, otherwise they could blow away.
