Glass scribing - very easy

Instructions No. 117

Here we show you how to successfully apply the "art of glass scribing"

Create your own unique pieces with individual designs on glasses, glass plates or bowls. After a template, which you can take from application books, for example, but of course also design yourself, you work out the lines of the template with an engraving - nothing easier than that!

Here's how it's done:

Cut out templates "sheets" from the template sheet or design your own, individual motifs as a scratch template. Fix the templates with the front side on the plate so that you can see them from the back of the plate.

With the diamond grinding pencil from the complete set, you first scratch the outlines of the leaves from the bottom into the glass. To achieve the shades, work on the white surfaces of the leaves with the various grinding pins. The motifs are then thoroughly polished with the felt polishing points.
