

Sparklers as a hostess gift

Instructions No. 1726
🔪🔪🔪🔪 Difficulty: Beginner
🕒 Working time: 20 Minutes

When inviting guests for New Year's Eve, you naturally want to decorate your home according to the occasion or delight your guests with small details. After all, it should sparkle everywhere. So why not just leave a present for everyone? Of course, the wrapped sparklers are also wonderfully suited as a small gift, if you are invited yourself, or just for in between.

First cut the natural cardboard according to the length of the sparklers. Make sure that they are long enough and leave enough space for decoration

Now cut at least two cross sections into the cardboard with the help of a cutter. These should not be too close to the edge and positioned in such a way that the sparklers can be pushed through with the lower end of the wire. If the sparklers are too loose, you can fix them with adhesive strip on the back

Once the sparklers have found the right place, you can decorate and decorate as you like. For example, you can stamp different motifs on clay or linen cardboard and then cut or punch them out. You can also colour the stamped motifs as you wish

From the Foam sheets other basic shapes can be punched or cut, which you can then combine with the stamped motifs and stick to the cardboard. Finally, you can decorate the sparkler packaging with the decorative string.
