Tray with Blob Painting

Instructions No. 2006

Difficulty: Advanced

Working time: 3 Hours

What do you think of a practical tray with a beautiful maple leaf in 3D look? This leaf is designed with a great technique Blob Paintingthat allows many creative possibilities. Point by point this outstanding work of art is created. Colourful, creative and trendy - try it out right away. The special acrylic paints layered on top of each other create fantastic colour experiences in 3D.

The tray is made in this way:

First mix some water with the Blob Paintingpaint Orange. Use it to prime the bottom of the tray

Download the template and print it out. The design is cut out. Draw half of the sheet with a pencil and mirror it. Then you can start with the first color blobs in the sheet. The first blogs will later represent the first layer of color in the color towers. After 24 hours drying time, place another "blob" on top. Repeat this procedure until you are satisfied with your painting blobs

Erase the pencil lines

Paint the edge of the tray with Maya Stardust to create a nice accent.

Now mix the cold glaze according to the package instructions and slowly pour it onto the tray. Attention: The higher the blobs are, the more cold glaze you need!

It is best to start in the middle of the tray, as the cold glaze will run to the edge by itself. Make sure that all blobs are covered. If not all blobs are covered, you can pour another layer on top after the first layer of cold glaze has dried. You can coat the edge of the tray with Triple Gloss.
